

Sándor CSÁNYI

(Hungary)

E-mail: css@ns.vvt.gau.hu

Sándor Csányi graduated at the Gödöllő University of Agricultural Sciences (GATE) in 1983 and since this time he is working in the wildlife units of the university. He is the Director of the Institute for Wildlife Conservation, and the leader of the BSc and MSc Programs in Wildlife Conservation and Management of the university. His special research interest covers wildlife population dynamics, models for ungulate harvesting, development of game management databases. Since 1983 he published >400 papers in scientific journals, conference publications, and professional books.